brought to you by the California Community Colleges

The Workforce of Tomorrow

As unemployment rates continue to remain high, many Californians are turning to community colleges to get the skills needed to land more stable careers. As the state's largest provider of affordable job training, California community colleges can give you an education that enhances your existing skills, provides you with new skills and puts you on the fast track to a rewarding occupation.

Community colleges offer hundreds of opportunities in fields such as advanced manufacturing, health care, information technology, renewable energy, biotechnology, advanced transportation, police and fire science, and many more.

The California Community Colleges serves more than two million students per year and is the largest system of higher education in the nation. The 112 diverse campuses across the state provide basic skills education, career training through certificate courses and two-year degrees, and prepare students for transfer to four-year colleges and universities.

Military veterans returning from active duty, students graduating from high school and individuals wanting to sharpen their job skills are all eligible to receive financial aid.

For more information on the various programs available, visit californiacommunitycolleges.cccco.edu.

Guaranteed Admission to a California State University Campus? It's True!

For the first time in California history, community college students will be able to take advantage of a new program that will guarantee admission to the California State University system with no wasted units.

The Associate Degree for Transfer (AA-T or AS-T) is a special degree that's part of a new program from the California Community Colleges and the California State University that makes it easier for students to transfer from one system to the other.

Furthermore, students with an AA-T or AS-T enter the California State University system with junior standing. Students who are admitted to a program that has been deemed similar will need only 60 more semester units (or 90 quarter units) to complete a bachelor's degree.

A website has also been developed to help current and prospective students better understand the many benefits of the program: ADegreeWithAGuarantee.com. It's the ultimate resource for students and parents to learn about the Associate Degree for Transfer. The website is designed to explain the guarantee, and help students identify an AA-T or AS-T that might be right for them. Key features include:

- Details on how the new transfer program works;
- Up-to-date information about the transfer majors available at California community college campuses that are matched to similar bachelor's degrees at California State University campuses;
- Interactive maps that help students find a campus;
- Application information;
- A degree progress checklist; and
- Testimonials from students who have earned an Associate Degree for Transfer and successfully moved on to a California State University campus under the new program.

To pursue this special AA-T or AS-T rather than a traditional Associate of Arts or Associate of Science degree, students should meet with a counselor to develop an education plan. Go to ADegreeWithAGuarantee.com to learn more and check back frequently as more degrees become available every month.

California State University Campuses Begin Accepting Fall 2013 Applications

California community college students planning to transfer to one of the 23 California State University campuses for fall 2013 should apply now by submitting their application online at csumentor.edu.

All California State University campuses will accept applications, but they will be held until the end of the initial filing period (Nov. 30). After students apply, they should stay informed. There are campus requirements and deadlines. Students are encouraged to bookmark the CSU Mentor website on their computers as it is the best system-wide resource for updated application and program information.

After the application has been submitted, the next step is to complete a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). Nearly half of all California State University undergraduates receive enough financial aid to cover the full cost of their tuition. Don't let money be a barrier to pursuing your higher education goals. Apply for financial aid today.

PLEASE JOIN US for an elegant and serene exhibit of mixed media paintings and sculpture by New York artists Krista Svalbonas and Jeanne Heifetz. Their finely crafted work harmonizes well together, creating a shimmering, luminous atmosphere in the gallery. Krista Svalbonas makes gorgeous paintings by building up layers of wax, paper and pastel, one layer often obscuring another. Her softly structured paintings allude to depths below surfaces that glow with light. She tell us, “I make art that explores the urban landscape...hard and opaque with spaces that are ill-defined, neither deep nor wide, offering a psychological sense of control and homogeny. I am fascinated with the architecture of the city landscape, its tiny spaces, its overlapping structure and its constant rebirth.” Jeanne Heifetz’ intriguing pieces, in a series she calls The Geometry of Hope, can be described as drawings without paper. She fashions delicate, translucent screen-like structures derived from traditional textile practices by using a non-traditional material---woven stainless steel---as the fabric. She adds dimension by incorporating colored acid-etched glass rods. As she describes her work, “Shadow gives the single-layer pieces a dual identity: on the surface of the work, an investigation of color relationships, whether bold contrasts or tone-on-tone shadings that test the edge of visual perception; on the wall, the image reduced to pure line. Multiple sources of light produce a doubling or tripling of the surface image in black-and-white form. The layered pieces play on the mysterious nature of objects half-perceived through a scrim; the two-layered pieces deconstruct an image and challenge the eye to reassemble it; the three-layered pieces give the illusion of peering into the structure of a crystal or a highly magnified cell. ... the process of constructing the work, line by line, stands in for the human search – whether a child’s inquiry or the scientific inquiries of a less technological age -- for comprehensible pattern in the natural world.”

Project Santa

To: MPC Staff, Faculty, Administrators, Trustees and Friends

From: The Project Santa Committee

We are asking for your help to make another successful annual MPC Project Santa. You have been generous to this and other good causes in the past, but the need doesn't go away for parents who have no funds for gifts or holiday food for their children this year. Project Santa is a way to brighten the holidays for those who are struggling to keep afloat.

We ask you for two things: a contribution to "MPC Project Santa" and, if you know a student or employee who is in serious financial stress, please fill out the Nomination form with that name for a gift certificate for food, clothes or children's gifts. THIS INFORMATION IS KEPT CONFIDENTIAL. The committee adds up the contributions, buys gift certificates for the indicated needs, and then divides the certificates among the nominees.

In order to make this happen, we ask that you make your contributions and return the nomination sheet no later than Thursday, December 13th, to Cathy Nyznyk at the Children Center. Make your check payable to "MPC Project Santa".

The joy and gratitude displayed by recipients is the reward for this effort. Bonnie Compton was the heart and spirit behind Project Santa since its inception; please make your contribution in memory of her devotion to all the students and staff at MPC.

THANKS! And OUR BEST WISHES FOR HAPPY HOLIDAYS!!

MONTEREY, Calif.--The Monterey County Sheriff's Department has announced the opening of the Deputy Sheriff-Recruit position.

The position has not been open for almost three years.

This is an entry level position so no prior law enforcement training and/or experience is required.

Successful applicants will be invited to the written and physical agility testing which will be held at 8:00 AM and 1:00 PM on Friday December 14, 2012 at the Sheriff's Office in Salinas. Applicants that pass the testing will be invited to an oral board the following week. Those applicants who are successful in the oral board will be given two weeks to return a Personal History Statement before participating in a thorough background which includes polygraph, psychological and medical exams. Recruits that are hired will be attending the P.O.S.T Academy coordinated by the South Bay Regional Training Consortium at Monterey Peninsula College in March of 2013.

One of the more exciting changes new Monterey County Sheriff's Deputies will experience is, upon completing the Academy; they will begin their training in Patrol. Unlike prior years where initial training was focused in the jail, new deputies will begin their training with patrol and then progress through jail training. The goal of this new process is to provide a better-rounded training program to new Deputies, ultimately making them more experienced and versatile by the end of their training program.

Anyone interested in this position should apply on-line at: www.co.monterey.ca.us/personnel <<http://www.co.monterey.ca.us/personnel>> beginning December 3rd. Check-in for the testing on December 14th begins one hour before the testing begins; photo ID is required. Applications will be available the day of testing. Questions about the application or testing process can be directed to the Sheriff's Office Human Resources (831)755-3744.

Opportunities to practice the physical agility test will be offered by calling (831)755-3829.

Dear Walter,

I am writing to let you know about a recent setback in our Safe Place Program for runaway and homeless youth and to ask for support. A loss of one of our biggest funders threatens to have devastating effects on local runaway and homeless youth and by extension, on Monterey County as a whole.

The 2011 Monterey County homeless census reported 1,924 homeless youth, of which 280 were unaccompanied youth, or youth on their own. Twenty-nine percent of those youth had traded sex or drugs for a place to sleep. Twenty-six percent cited alcohol or drug use as contributing to their homelessness (although 49% reported alcohol or drug abuse in general). The recent economic climate is only expected to drive these numbers upwards in the coming years.

Safe Place attempts to identify these youth, provide them basic aid, offer safe exits from the street, and reduce their risk of harm by providing comprehensive services to the greater Monterey Peninsula. We provide food, clothing, temporary shelter, a 24-hour helpline, street outreach, crisis resolution counseling, family reunification or alternate placement, education about sexual safety and violence, substance abuse prevention and intervention, information and referrals, and aftercare. Above all, we provide caring adults to listen to and respect the youth – youth who too often have been marginalized at best and abused at worst.

Should this program be discontinued or attenuated, the ripple effect would be disastrous. Youth would likely and quickly turn to crime to fill these gaps in services and local merchants and individuals would feel the brunt of that burden. Police, sheriffs, jails and Probation would also have an increased workload and expense. Our program is built to help youth ease off of publicly funded programs and transition to independent adulthood, and into the ranks of self-supporting, fully contributing members of society.

Given the important work being done at Safe Place I hope that you will consider making a monetary donation to help us keep our doors open and the youth of the Monterey Peninsula tended to. Please call me at 831-658-3811 with any questions.

Sincerely,

Robin McCrae
