

2nd Annual

SOCIOLOGY

environment alcohol and drugs government research culture aging urban sociological imagination education work identities community inequality gender class marriage sports quantitative deviance crime family society stratification methods population globalization health and medicine individual statistics politics organizations socialization race and ethnicity economy religion theory migration qualitative delinquency

Student Research Symposium

1:00pm-3:00pm, Tuesday, May 22nd 2018

Social Science rm. 102

Please join us, as students in Sociology 15: Research Methods, present their semester long research projects and posters. Four students that attended the 42nd Annual Meeting of the Pacific Sociological Association in Long Beach will also be on hand to talk about that student travel experience. Light refreshments provided.